

PORT ARTHUR IS STILL RUSSIAN

Commander Refuses to Surrender or Allow Non-Combatants To Leave the City.

OFFICIAL ANSWER ONE OF COURAGE

Will Fight to the Last Ditch--Bombardment Has Again
Begun by the Determined Japanese.

(Special by Scripps-McRae.)
Washington, Aug. 18.—Minister Gresham, of Tokyo, cables the State Department the official information that the Russian commander yesterday rejected the Japanese summons to surrender Port Arthur, and also the Japanese offer for the removal of all non-combatants.

No Surrender.
Chefoo, Aug. 18.—"Death to the last man before surrender," is General Stoessel's answer to Japan's demand that Port Arthur surrender, according to reports here.

The reply was sent late yesterday to the Japanese field marshal, Marquis Oyama, who is directing the combined land and sea attack on the doomed fortress.

The Japanese have begun to mine the forts in response to the orders of the Mikado to destroy Port Arthur, and intend to blow up the fortress and its devoted garrison in case the answer is a refusal to surrender.

Refusal is Expected.
The contents of the Russian commander's note cannot be ascertained, but doubtless he has signified his determination to sacrifice the entire garrison rather than submit to capitulation.

Already more than 60 per cent. of the 30,000 troops originally in the stronghold have been killed or disabled by wounds or disease.

Fire Added to Horrors.
The fire, which originated from a Japanese shell, and is said to be sweeping the town, started in a huge oil warehouse, according to reports, and is spreading. Numbers of troops have been withdrawn from the trenches to join in the fight to extinguish the flames.

Not Contraband.
St. Petersburg, Aug. 18.—The United States and Great Britain have formally raised the question of foodstuffs as contraband of war, except when directly proved that they are destined for belligerent armies or navies. While acting on parallel lines, the United States and Great Britain are proceeding independently.

The American case was presented through Ambassador McCormick and followed the lines of the American declaration at the time of the Spanish war. It is in the form of a protest against the confiscation of flour on board the Arabia. The general American contention regarding contraband, as set forth in Secretary Elihu's note of June 10, are also placed before the Russian government.

Great Britain followed by raising not only the question of foodstuffs as contraband, but the legality of sinking neutral ships.

The views are practically those embodied in the king's speech at the opening of parliament. The communication takes exception to the Russian doctrine that foodstuffs are contraband, takes a position against the right of Russia to sink neutral merchantmen, and demands compensation in the case of the Knight Commander.

ONE KILLED AND FOUR INJURED

Bad Accident Near Cincinnati Early
This Morning Between Two Trains.

(Special by Scripps-McRae.)
Cincinnati, O., Aug. 18.—One man was killed and four injured in a head-on collision of two work trains on the Big Four, at Elizabethtown, this morning. Engineer Patrick Mitchell, of Indianapolis, was killed outright.

A plot was discovered by Foreman Griever to blow up the penitentiary at Columbus, O. Griever found a stick of dynamite and a half pint of glycerine mixed with paint in one of the shops. Warden Hershey says four or five prisoners are suspected.

The name of Gebhard Wilhelm, an attorney of Milwaukee, is being considered by the republican national committee as German secretary for assignment at Chicago headquarters.

Eastern Railway, which runs from Harbin to Port Arthur.

2. Return of Manchuria to China.

3. Cession to Japan of Port Arthur and Dairen, as well as the neighboring portion of Liaotung Peninsula.

4. Return to Japan Saghalien Island, now used by the Russians as a penal colony.

5. Abandonment by Russia of Eastern Siberia as far as Lake Balkal.

6. Cash indemnity of at least 1,000,000,000 rubles ($500,000,000).

According to Dr. Kanjin Tomizu, Japan, for the sake of its future safety, cannot afford to yield on any one of these points, not even the fifth.

In his opinion, the powers will not have any reasonable objection if such terms are imposed upon Russia.

Amunition is Low.
The Mikado's offer to release the non-combatants in Port Arthur, coupled with Oyama's demand for surrender, has thoroughly stirred St. Petersburg. The idea that Russia's famous Gibraltar of the East is doomed increases hourly. It is an open secret that the ammunition expended since the beginning of the war is stupendous, and there cannot now be a very large supply.

The demand for the fortress' surrender was delivered by Major Yamkha, a dispatch from Tokyo states.

Shells Spread Fire.

Refugees bring news of a serious condition of affairs at Port Arthur. They say that Japanese shells have ignited lighters in the docks which contained supplies of coal, resulting in a terrific conflagration. Many of the buildings have been demolished and the hospitals are crowded.

The right wing of the Japanese line has penetrated to the vicinity of Pigeon bay, while the center had moved forward from Hainan-Ching, which is south of Shushiyen and two miles north of the town, when the Chinese reporting the latest situations left the region about Port Arthur.

Passengers on the steamer Decima, which anchored off Port Arthur the night of Aug. 16, witnessed the bombardment from Pigeon bay. The Japanese shells were visible during their whole course. They elicited commotion to the town and their explosions were marked by great splashes of fire which shot up to the sky.

Bombardment is Brilliant.
The bombardment from this and other points began at midnight and lasted until morning. The Russians did not reply to the Japanese fire.

Maj. Seaman, formerly a surgeon in the American army, was a passenger on the Decima. He says the spectacle of the bombardment was most brilliant and awe-inspiring. The Decima weighed anchor from Port Arthur at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning. At some distance out she saw five Japanese warships guarding the harbor.

Rumor Port Arthur Falls.
St. Petersburg, Aug. 18.—A rumor is again in circulation that Port Arthur has fallen, but the source is not traceable, and it seems to have no more foundation than previous rumors to the same effect.

Gen. Stoessel, as an independent commander, would have a perfect right under the Russian military regulations to surrender at discretion.

But it may safely be assumed that a man of Stoessel's temper will not create a new precedent in Russian history. Our military annals do not show a single case where a commander yielded a fortress on the demand of the enemy in order to avoid a fight.

Sebastopol was taken by storm.

Must Pay Former Bankers
Wisconsin Man Under Obligations at Time of a Failure Loses Suit.

Mantow, Wis., Aug. 18.—Litigation dating back to the failure of the German-Exchange bank of Chilton, conducted by Kersten Brothers in 1898, ended when orders and judgments were entered in the four cases based on the alleged nonfulfillment of obligations which called for the turning over of properties given to H. Zech at the time of the failure to the Kerstens. Judge Dwindle of Janesville rendered a decision whereby the Kerstens will recover a considerable amount of property from Zech other than that turned over originally.

FOUR PERSONS DIE IN CRASH

Fast Passenger Train Runs Into a Traction
Engine in Chicago—Fatal Accident.

ANOTHER GRADE CROSSING HORROR

The Hand Brakes on Motor Car Refused to Work, and Car
Is Hurlled to Bits in the Collision.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 18.—Four persons dead, one fatally injured and twenty-five or more hurt is the toll of human life and suffering exacted by a Chicago grade crossing Wednesday. Three street cars, coupled into one train and in charge of a motorman having only a few months' experience, carried their load of living freight on the tracks of the Chicago Great Western Railway and were crushed and crumbled before a fast-moving passenger train. The motorman, Michael Ryan, proved the hero of the catastrophe, for in spite of his alleged inexperience he stuck to his post, vainly trying to stem the coming disaster, and his life may be the forfeit.

Six Men Arrested.
Following the collision the crew of the passenger train and the conductors on the street cars were arrested.

After Inspector John Wheeler had investigated the disaster and its cause he reported the result and his conclusions to Justice Max Eberhardt, and the justice fixed the bonds of the street railway employees at $10,000 and of the train crew at $5,000 each. The train crew secured bonds, but the street railway men failed to do so.

Inspector Wheeler said that if any blame existed it would be attached to the conductor of the motor car, who failed to go in advance to signal whether the track was clear.

Conductor Karr of the Great Western train said:

"Moran could not run ahead of his car because the cars were not stopped. For the three cars there was only the one hand brake, which was on the motor car, and as there is a slight downgrade, approaching the crossing, the hand brake was not sufficient."

Brakes Prove Unavailable.
Three cars filled with people going to the Hawthorne races were running on the Consolidated Traction Company's Forty-eighth avenue line, and as they approached the five-track crossing near Colorado avenue, the flagman signaled the coming of the train. Motorman Ryan tugged at his brake, but the momentum of the three cars was not easily checked. For a moment he seemed to have them under control; then they shot forward again, on over the tracks and the crash came.

Struck by the locomotive, the motor car was splintered, and Motorman Ryan, still clinging to the brake lever, was hurled into the air and fell fifty feet from the scene of the impact. His skull was fractured and he was unconscious.

The second car also was wrecked and the debris was scattered over 100 feet, and men and women were thrown to the street or under the broken timbers and twisted iron. The three women who were killed were found plunoned beneath the wreckage.

Finds His Mother Dead.
C. H. Rautman, a son of Mrs. Frances Rautman, who was killed, sat in the second seat of the first car. He did not know that his mother was on the same train.

"After passing under the elevated railroad station, the electric cars proceeded toward the grade crossing at a good speed," said Mr. Rautman. "We saw the flagman in the middle of the crossing, and I was close enough to Motorman Ryan to see that he was trying to slow up. I saw the Great Western train bearing down toward us. The passengers began yelling, and I jumped, just grazing the side of the engine. I looked about for the injured, and the first I saw was the dead body of my mother."

List of the Dead.
The following were killed in the wreck:

William Irving, Oak Park; died at County Hospital.

Mrs. Frances Rautman, 837 Washington boulevard.

Mrs. Jeremiah Shuckrow, Danville, Ill.

Unidentified woman, about 40 years old, at county morgue.

THINK KIDNAPED BOY IS ON AN OCEAN LINER

The New York Police Think That Members

Way to Italy.

(Special by Scripps-McRae.)

The Italian consul will be asked to investigate and the ship searched on its arrival in Italy. A meeting of prominent Italians was held today to begin a vigorous warfare on the "Black Hand" society.

EMOTIONS SWAY GREATEST LIVES

THEIR ORIGIN IS IN CHILDHOOD'S IMPRESSIONS.

SUPT. WALKER LECTURES

On "The Boy and His Sweetheart"—
Says Antonio Macco Was Greatest Patriot of Century.

Tuesday evening Supt. Walker of the State School for the Deaf, speaking at the high school auditorium under the auspices of the teachers institute now in progress, swayed a large audience from laughter to tears and back to laughter again with his intimate and sympathetic characterizations of "The Boy and His Sweetheart." In his introduction he strove to show that while other elements counted much in the human economy, emotional power was infinitely more and that in the history of the race only those in whom that emotional capacity was highly developed and occupied the seats of the intellect, the great military leaders, beginning with Hannibal, to demonstrate his hypothesis and family surprised his hearers with the statement that while Lincoln and Grant had certain claims to distinction, in his opinion the Cuban leader Antonio Macco was the greatest of all patriots of the nineteenth century.

Greatest Of All Patriots.
In 1893, at the time of the opening of Cuba's ten years' war with Spain, the Macco family was an ordinary peasant family in the north of Cuba. The sons begged the father to permit them to join the revolutionary army but this request he denied the old ties to the mother country, moving him to remain neutral. One day father and sons returned from a visit to find their home in ashes and the bodies of their outraged and dying mother and sisters. It was the work of the Spanish soldiery. The father gathered in the life of the dying members of his home and the next day with his three sons joined the "Can you fight?" they answered: "We do not know, but God knows we have reason to fight." It came to pass that wherever they went there was victory for the Cubans, until finally only the young Antonio remained. After three years service he left Cuba and sought the military academy of the United States on the banks of the Hudson. There he engaged himself as a hostler, remaining sixteen long years to study the military treatises that came to his hand. In looking upon him no one knew that they gazed into the dark eyes of the Cuban patriot. Then he went back and the wires began to more to flash the news that the revolutionists had taken up arms again, and that where this Macco went defeat awaited Spain. His life had been devoted to one purpose and he had been moved to this purpose by the little scene that had touched his emotions while he was yet a boy.

It is the things we do as children under strong emotion that give us the trend for our lives. What is this power? Spencer says that an emotion is a condition of mind arising from the union of a strong present sensation with the memory of a past sensation. Hence it is that one person may bestow, but a casual glance on an artist's canvas while another is moved to tears. One has but the present sensation while to the other the memory of the other is linked to the memory of some similar scene or experience belonging to other days. And there is the key. It is the business of the teacher to make these first impressions so clear that they will force with future sensations. It is not the child who has the most experiences that promises the greatest man. It is the boy with a few that are cut the deepest. And so it comes about that the farmer boy with the few, but deeply graven experiences more often comes to be the man of power.

Must Have An Outlet.
All emotions of a class must have some natural outlet. Did you ever realize what a relief it is, sometimes, to slam a door? The young lady who smiled after an awkward young man had spilled gravy on her best gown and said it was no matter, but later took it out in biting the bed-post did well. Evil emotions must be gotten rid of if we are to attain our full power. Good emotions on the contrary should not be ever swelling up. The person who is ever swelling up and saying pretty things we call a "teacher." After a time by this prosaic expression, he or she loses the capacity to feel.

The Boy's Sweetheart.
The speaker then turned his attention to the boy and his sweetheart, telling with rare intimate power of the first love for the mother and the manners and methods of the boy in expressing this love. His second sweetheart is apt to be one of the primary teachers and from her he learns the blessedness of service to others. For the wise teacher has won his affection, not by doing something for him but by allowing him to do something for her. The next object of the boy's love is likely to be a dog—an ordinary yellow one and a nuisance. The girl's affections are

IT IS FOR LADIES, TOO.

They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out
With Herpelide.

Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out, can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth, with Seebach's "Herpelide." Herpelide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpelide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Seebach's Herpelide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpelide Co., Detroit, Mich.

likely to turn to rabbits, probably in preparation for the dull, stupid creatures she must admire later on. The ill-favored dog is a creature of wisdom and beauty to the boy. Because he has bound the animal's wounds when worsted in a fight or sat beside the dog in sickness, he will never be the same boy again. No humane society will ever be necessary for the boy has loved his dog. Then there will be the inevitable little girl in school and the furtive smile over the geography book, never to be repeated, which marks the beginning and later the balance of his meagre funds to stealthily buy her a present. On account of that the balancing he had to do, the boy will make a better man. Then something arises to make him love his country's flag, and after that perhaps comes the sweetheart he marries. If she combines all the attributes of the others—if as a mother she spurs his ambition, if as a teacher she fires his chivalry and leads him to be of service to others—then will he be most happily wedded. But the story of the boy's affections is not ended with marriage. In these days of sharp business practice there is too little of that love for fellow men. The boy who has learned the lessons from his other sweethearts will be content with a narrow life, bounded only by his family ties. After the conclusion of the address the Lyric Male Quartette sang a very pleasing selection and responded to an encore. The hall was filled.

FROGS DELICATE IF COOKED RIGHT

Janesville People Are Missing Many Choice Bits of Eating If They Neglect the Frog.

Few Janesville men really appreciate how delicate and delicious frogs are. Even as late as last summer a party of Janesville men at Lake Koshkonong mistook the honk of the mealy frog for the barking of a carp and hunted for hours for a chance to see these monsters of the deep perform. In choosing frog legs do not take the large Canadian or Southern frog but rather pick the smaller size as the flavor is much more delicate. Rock river and the marshes adjoining are well filled with these animals and with a little care a good sized mess can be obtained in a few minutes.

To Be Best.
To be most palatable, frogs ought to be killed only when about to be cooked and a wise housekeeper has them killed in her own kitchen. The details of the killing and the steaming can only be learned from a personal experience or from an experienced teacher, as it is hard to describe on paper, but, at any rate, the live and hind quarters should be perfectly cleaned and each quarter be carefully wiped with a piece of linen, for absolute cleanliness is necessary for the preparation of frogs.

For Four Persons.
To make a sufficient quantity for four persons take three dozen frogs and put them in fresh water for ten minutes. In a saucepan melt two tablespoons of butter with three crushed clove of garlic and a branch of chopped parsley. When this comes to a simmer stir in a tablespoonful of flour and add two cups of veal or chicken stock with a teaspoonful of vinegar. Drain the frogs and fry them in a pan with a little of the sauce on a plate. Heat but do not gallop the sauce, pour it on the frogs in an entire dish, and serve very hot.

To Fry Them.
To fry frogs, select the biggest thighs and put them for an hour in cold water and cover them with some chopped chives and half a teaspoonful of vinegar. Drain the frogs and fry them in a pan with a little of the sauce on a plate. Heat but do not gallop the sauce, pour it on the frogs in an entire dish, and serve very hot.

Frog Soup.
For frog soup prepare a court bouillon putting in a saucepan—for four persons—two quarts of water, two large onions, quartered; two crushed clove of garlic; two sprigs of parsley and pepper and salt. Take two or three dozen forequarters of frogs or two dozen fore and hind quarters which have been in cold water half an hour, and have drained. Put them in the bouillon, cook slowly an hour, strain through a sieve, rejecting the frog meat. In a saucepan put two tablespoonsful of butter, and, as it melts, add a tablespoonful of flour. When this is incorporated, but not browned, add the soup, stirring constantly with a wooden spoon. As it nears the boiling point, add a pint of milk and a half a cup of cream. Roll gently ten minutes and serve with bread sliced fried in butter and a pinch of finely chopped chervil on each plate.

August 14-19.

An unusually large movement is expected as the result of the low rates to Boston and return, which will be in effect for that occasion via The North-Western Line from all points west and northwest.

The present indications point to a larger attendance than at any encampment that has been held for several years, as these low rates offer an excellent opportunity to visit the mountains and seashore resorts of the eastern states.

Special through car arrangements will be provided from a large number of points on The North-Western Line. Connection is made via Chicago with all eastern lines. Full information can be secured from the nearest ticket agent of Chicago & North-Western R'y.

Janesville veterans of the old Iron Brigade, who fought under the command of General E. S. Briggs of Wisconsin at the second battle of Bull Run, August 28, 1862, are invited to gather at the battlefield early next month to tell where their regiments were in action on that strenuous and bloody day of the civil war and place permanent markers of the positions. The 2nd, 6th, and 7th Wisconsin regiments did gallant work in this memorable battle against fearful odds. Captain George E. Albee, now of the regular army, has communicated to the adjutant general of Wisconsin, the fact that the Iron Brigade should be represented at the marking of the field next month. As there is no state appropriation available to send veteran delegates, a general invitation has been announced to the boys of the Iron Brigade to have some of them present to assist in the work.

RANK AND FILE WANT PEACE NOW

MAJORITY OF THE REPUBLICANS WILL BE LOYAL.

ELECTOR PUZZLE DIFFICULT

Three of the National Electors Said
To Be Not Eligible for the Position.

General gossip about the state is that the rank and file of the republican party in Wisconsin is determined that the factional split shall not be carried to the polls and the sentiment prevails generally that whichever of the two state tickets now in the field be declared regular by the supreme court shall receive the votes of republicans, and that the other ought to be withdrawn in order to remove doubt as to the election of the republican presidential electoral ticket.

Starts Idea.

This sentiment was first publicly stated by Senator James H. Stout of Dunn county, in an interview in St. Paul. He was one of the four delegates at large to the national convention chosen by the La Follette state convention and was denied a seat in the national convention at Chicago. He declared that he would support the state ticket which should be declared regular by the supreme court. His declaration has been taken with approval generally by the rank and file of the republican voters in the state, also by a number of the leaders of the anti-administration or stalwart faction, but not apparently by the leaders of the La Follette faction.

Are Indifferent.

The administration committee and leaders seem to be indifferent to the decision of the supreme court and although they would hail with delight a favorable court decision, they seem to be determined to remain in the field whatever be the determination of the legal proceedings now pending in the supreme court. The prevalence of the inclination among republican voters to abide by the legal decision of the factional trouble that makes the hope of the state being carried by the Roosevelt electors. As the national campaign approaches the importance of carrying the state for Roosevelt and Fairbanks becomes more and more apparent among the voters and isolated state issues are less thought of.

Three in Trouble.

Three of the national electors selected in both of the republican state conventions of Wisconsin probably will be obliged to withdraw because of their connection with national banks. The electors affected are George Beyer, president of the Oconto National bank; H. A. Bright, vice president of the national bank at Black River Falls; and M. D. Keith, director of the new national bank recently established at Grandon.

May Choose New Electors.

It is intimated that the La Follette state central committee will hold a meeting in the near future to nominate new electors. The anti-La Follette committee. It is said, will await the action of the supreme court in the state ticket suit before making any move.

Chairman Cortelyou has prepared a letter, which he is sending to national committee, calling attention to the fact that national bank directors cannot serve, and this also will cover the Wisconsin case.

NEW FACTORY FOR THE BEET SUGAR

Racine Will Have a Large Factory
Established Within a Short Time.

Within two years Racine county will have a sugar beet factory. Plans are now under way for the organization of a company with capital stock of $200,000. Alois Volter, who has had five years' experience in beet growing in Michigan, and at Corlies, and Joseph Stehlik, editor of the Slavie, leading Bohemian paper in the United States, are at the head of the movement.

The meetings have been held in Racine and another is to be called early in the fall. The bulk of the stock will be taken by farmers of Racine county, mostly of Mount Pleasant and Caledonia. This is evidence that the soil and climate conditions in this section are right for the business.

The farmers are enthusiastic and ready to take stock in the new company. Mr. Stehlik, in speaking of the proposed new factory this afternoon, said that he believed it would be easy to raise the capital and that Caledonia and Mount Pleasant farmers would take the bulk of stock.

FOURTH WARDERS
SOMEWHAT WROTH

Over Supposed Intention of Council
To Erect Voting Booth in Little Park.

The supposed intention of the council committee to locate the new Fourth ward voting booth in the little park at the intersection of High and Lincoln streets is arousing some adverse comment on the part of neighborhood property owners who fail to appreciate the beauty of simple lines and styles in architecture. They refuse to regard voting booths as ornaments and insist on classifying them with popcorn stands and hen coops. Their displeasure has been communicated with much emphasis to the committee which consists of Aldermen Schwartz, Schmidley and Merritt.

AMONG THE WORLD'S WORKERS

News Notes From Various Sources of Great Interest to the Workingman.

After a strike lasting one day the Brewery Workmen's Union of San Francisco, secured an increase of wages from $20 to $21 per week, and overtime from 50 to 60 cents per hour.

"By a vote, which was practically unanimous, cotton spinners from N. Carolina, S. Carolina, Alabama, and Mississippi have decided to curtail production twenty-five per cent, or to a basis of seventy-five per cent, during the months of August and September.

The Allied Printing Trades, Council of San Francisco has secured an injunction against the local citizens Alliance, prohibiting that body from basing its "bogus" label, the later device being an infringement upon the union label of the Printing Trades.

From April 10 last the hours of labor of the work people (about 1,500 in number) employed in the National Printing Works of the French Government have been reduced from ten to nine per day.

Five hundred and fifty operatives struck at the mills of the United States Cotton Company in General Falls, R. I. against a twelve and a half per cent. decrease in wages.

A shut-down of two weeks went into effect at Suncok, N. H. in three cotton mills, which employ about 1,500 operatives. As soon as the mills re-open the wages of the workers will be reduced twelve and one-half per cent.

London, England, cab proprietors want the drivers to pay $4 per day for hire on each vehicle and horses. The drivers struck and offered $3.50 per day, which the owners have accepted pending the holding of a conference to settle the dispute.

SUPPOSED SUICIDE IN GREEN COUNTY

Dead Body of Mrs. George Ostrander Discovered in Woods After Long Search.

On Tuesday morning the dead body of Mrs. George Ostrander, whose home has been near the Sully schoolhouse about two miles west of Albany, in Green county, was found at the edge of Hudson's woods, about a mile northwest of her former abode. She had strayed away early in the morning of the previous day and a searching party dragged the Sugar river for her body. It is supposed that she died from poison administered by her own hand. Mrs. Ostrander had been subject to attacks of dementia for some years and had not been in a normal mental condition for some days. A careful watch had been kept over her by the husband.

NORCROSS TO BE MUCH HONORED

His Old Army Plates To Be Presented to Him After Many Years
Have Passed.

Commander Pliny Norcross, of Janesville, head of the Wisconsin department of the Grand Army of the Republic, is to be presented with an unique old army relic which he will doubtless highly prize. It is an old dilapidated army tin plate, but it has an interesting history. During the three-year's enlistment, in which Commander Norcross served, there was a presentation ceremony of a silver dinner service. After the formalities an old soldier said he would like to make a presentation of a dinner service, and he solemnly offered his battered old army tin plate and cup. The cup has disappeared, but the plate became a part of the Dr. Lapham collection of relics in Milwaukee and is soon to be presented to Commander Norcross by the daughters of the deceased Dr. Lapham, because the name of Pliny Norcross appears upon the old plate. It passed from soldier to soldier in the war and each owner scratched his name upon it, one of them being the present commander of the Wisconsin department.

Wanted—For U. S. army: Able-bodied unmarried men between ages of 21 and 25; citizens of United States, of good character and temperate habits, who can speak, read and write English. For information apply to Dr. J. B. Whiting, Jr., or recruiting office, Park hotel, Janesville, Wis.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Thursday, Aug. 18, 1864.—Meeting Of The First Soldiers Aid Society In The Town Of Rock.—The first Soldier's Aid society meeting of the town of Rock met at the residence of G. W. Bendis, Esq., yesterday afternoon and evening. The occasion was one long to be remembered. Town and county were well represented and all seemed to enjoy themselves to the "top notch." The tables were loaded with everything to tempt the palate; and ice cream of the finest flavor, was served up in great abundance. At a late hour in the evening the company retired to the hall when the band in attendance discoursed sweet music, while the delighted sons and daughters of Eve tripped the light fantastic toe. The Hon. David Nogels was present and did the fair thing. The company was indebted to him for much of the harmony and enjoyment that prevailed throughout the evening. The receipts of the society were $85. Long live the first Aid Society of Rock, and long live Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bendis. Participant.

The New England delegates to the Chicago convention will participate in the conference at New York previous to coming west. With one or two exceptions all the Maine men are peace delegates.

Ho, For The Navy.—As will be seen by posters around the city a recruiting office has been opened in this city under the supervision of Capt. Maclean for the purpose of obtaining recruits for the navy. Call upon the Captain in the Myers House block and he will give you all the needed information, etc.

Now Principal of The High School.—We understand that the school board has secured the services of Prof. Chas. A. Hutchinson as principal of the High school. He is a gentleman spoken of, well and qualified for the position.

Coming Attractions.

San S. Shubert's beautiful production of "A Girl From Dixie" which will be presented at the opening of the Myers Grand Opera House Friday Aug. 19 will no doubt be welcomed as a most refreshing novelty in the line of musical entertainment. Altogether it presents in most happy proportions the combination of light, catchy and popular music as well as genuine comedy of an entirely refined nature. The construction of the piece is radically different from the modern accepted type of musical comedy. "A Girl From Dixie" being more in the nature of a comedy with the accompaniment of enlivening songs and choruses.

WIFE BEATER IS PUNISHED

JACK CONROY GETS SIXTY DAYS IN JAIL.

ASSAULT MADE ON STREET

Late Tuesday Evening, and Officers Hunted for Assailant All Day Yesterday.

For beating and attempting to strangle his wife Jack Conroy was this morning sentenced to sixty days in the county jail. He pleaded guilty to assault and battery in municipal court before Judge Earle.

Trouble Tuesday Night.
Mrs. Conroy, who was a Miss Henry, formerly of Footville, has been living with her father's family in a residence near Chief Hogan's home at 207 South Franklin street. About eleven o'clock Tuesday evening residents in that vicinity were awakened by a woman's screams. Those who looked out of their windows saw Mrs. Conroy running on Pleasant street with a man in close pursuit. As she neared City Attorney Burpee's residence the man overtook and attempted to choke her. Mr. Burpee was awakened and promptly telephoned for the police. The man fled.

Caught in a Boat.
No trace of Conroy could be found that night or yesterday morning. In the afternoon, however, Officer Henke came upon him and a companion named Murray seated in a row boat just under the lee of F. A. Taylor's wagon repository. In stepping into the boat to get his man the officer nearly capsized the craft, which had not been untied from its moorings. As the boat began filling with water Conroy begged the officer to get out, agreeing to accompany him without trouble if he would have him from a watery grave, or something to that effect.

ARTHUR M'ARTHUR BARRED CONTEST

Wilson Lane Says the Scotchman Does Not Answer Requirements—Will Write Him.

Wilson Lane says that the acceptance of his challenge for a golf game with any man of his age or older, and accepted by Arthur McArthur, giving his age as seventy, and stating he was travelling in this country, is not within the requirements of the challenge. He said this morning he would write Mr. McArthur at the address given in Iowa, and ask him to come to Janesville, on his way home, for a game on the local links. He would play him for some sort of a cup or prize, but did not want it understood that he was gambling on the result of the contest. Mr. Lane explains how the challenge was originally made. It was done as a joke and was not really a challenge but since it has been accepted as such Mr. Lane would, doubtless, fulfill his part of it if a legitimate golfer in Illinois, Iowa or Wisconsin of his age or older should appear. The newspapers throughout the country have taken the matter up and many articles have been published regarding it.

Mr. Lane has been playing golf but three years but devoted considerable time and study to the game and has improved wonderfully during the past few months. A match between him and some gentleman of his age would be most interesting to witness and would doubtless attract considerable attention throughout the country. Mr. Lane does not mean to state he can defeat a professional golfer of his age but any gentleman player he feels confident he can vanquish. If a match is arranged the play will doubtless take place at the Shinnispi golf links.

TRAMP DOG CAUSED SMALL PANIC TODAY

Fourth Ward People Were Alarmed at His Queer Actions, and Thought Him Mad.

A black and yellow tramp dog, supposed from his action to be afflicted with the rabies, caused much excitement in the Fourth ward this morning. The beast bit several other dogs, snapped at the wheel spokes of a buggy that was passing and finally took a stand near the Lutheran parsonage where he emitted several doleful howls. At this juncture Officer Henke started to make an investigation. The dog fled down Academy street and onto Cherry and the officer was still looking for him when John Perschbacher, veterinary surgeon, happened to be passing with his buggy. He was at once interested when told about the dog and offered his assistance. The chase was resumed and the two were successful in catching one short glimpse of the animal at about a block's distance. Dr. Perschbacher assured the policeman that the dog was only suffering with the distemper and the chase was abandoned.

PYTHIANS DECIDE ON NEW REGALIA

Louisville Conclave, Which Ogden H. Fethers is Attending, Takes Important Steps.

At the Louisville encampment of the Knights of Pythias last evening a change in uniform was decided upon and the new dress will be chosen by a special committee. Supreme Chancellor Tracey R. Bangs aroused special interest in his report reflecting on Uniform Rank. He said the latter had shown steady deterioration and recommended such action as would bring about betterment. The method of promulgating the semi-annual password was a subject of discussion yesterday and many contented that the magic word should be changed only yearly and that the present manner of acquainting the members with it prevented many from attending lodge meetings. There was also a move to wipe out all forms of benefits but strong opposition has developed to any change in this regard. In regard to the question of eliminating the insurance features represented by the endowment rank there is more unanimity of opinion and the project is meeting with favor. The question of admitting the Rathbone Sisters to the order will again come up for a decision. They have been knocking at the portals of the Pythians for ten years past only to be denied entrance at each meeting of the supreme lodge. Thirty-six states are represented at the present encampment. Past Supreme Chancellor Ogden H. Fethers, of Janesville, is attending the Louisville meeting.

SHOULD DEMAND FREE RELIGION

BISHOP M'CABE, WHO SPEAKS HERE, GIVES HIS VIEWS.

EPWORTH LEAGUE CONVENES

In The Bower City Tomorrow From All Parts of the Janesville District.

On Friday afternoon the opening session of the district convention of the Epworth League will be held at the Central Methodist church. There are over a thousand members of the Epworth League in the Janesville district and it is expected that a large delegation will be present. The special feature of the program tomorrow is the address of Bishop C. C. McCabe in the evening at eight o'clock. Bishop McCabe is one of the most remarkable men in the Methodist church, and his address will be attended by many persons not members of the League. A Milwaukee paper this morning quotes Bishop McCabe in the following language:

"The time has come when the whole Christian world should rise and compel the Turk to grant religious liberty to the Armenians," said Bishop Charles C. McCabe, appointed chancellor of the Washington university which the Methodists have planned to build at Washington, D. C., who was in Milwaukee a short time yesterday on his return from Marquette, where he lectured at the Northern Chautauque assembly. He is on his way to Janesville.

"I would be pleased, minister that I am, if the battleships would steam up the Bosphorus and demand of the sultan not only that he grant the indemnity asked for by the United States, but that a demand be made, and if the sultan refused, that the command of fire be given.

"I think the time has come when the United States and Great Britain should unite in an alliance and demand religious liberty all over the world. I by no means am in favor of war, but religious liberty is a thing necessary for the progress and betterment of man in every country.

"War is certainly terrible, but the work of the soldier often results in good. God often uses the soldier to go ahead and prepare a way for his religious work and the uplifting of the people. Forty years ago you could not go into France and establish a missionary school; you could not even take a 6-cent testament into Rome. Now you can go there and establish your bible house and freedom is given to all sects. All these changes have been brought about by the work of the soldier."

CHAPTER XXXII.

ON the afternoon of the next day Hilger returned. Leaving his horse at the door, he went up to George's room. His trousers were bespattered with mud and covered with the white hairs of his shedding horse.

"I've had a trip of it, George," he said, his face glowing. "But I was well repaid. You couldn't guess what I've been."

"How could I?" said Buckley, with a smile.

"I've got a heap to tell you," the old man ran on, with enthusiasm. He sat down on the edge of the wounded man's bed. "Trabue's death worried the life mightily out of me till I took a notion all at once that the bite of the dog couldn't be any worse'n the bark, an' that I'd better go see that old woman myself an' tell 'er the plain truth. I reckon I prayed a prayer for every mile of the way, my boy. I didn't know what she'd do when I got to go by directions to find 'er. I got to the foot o' Bald mountain just about dark last night, an' a feller that lived on the side o' the road give me directions how to reach her house. I thought they was plain enough, but pretty soon I got as dark as pitch, an' I was as bad as a blind man on a blind horse. One thing the man said, though, was that as soon as I got a mile or two up the road I'd see the light from her kitchen fire. He said it could be seen for miles—that she never was known to shut 'er door this time of year."

"Well, sir, I got then to prayin' for a sight o' the light. I begged the Almighty to let it shine out as a sign I was forgiven for my crime, but it was slow a-comin', an' when it did come I said to myself that a man was a fool to ask the Lord to make a sign out o' 'somebody' that wasn't any more'n natural, so I wasn't much comforted over that. However, I did feel a little better. It seemed so steady an' bright an' peaceful away up there among the stars, above them rough rocks an' deep gullies. I started right for it. The road got so bad I had to get down an' lead my horse. Sometimes we'd have to step over trees that lay across the way, an' then there'd be a branch or a creek to ford an' fences to let down an' briars an' rocks an' steep places. But I kept up my heart. Sometimes the light'd be out o' sight completely, an' then an' then it'd blaze up steady an' strong like a promise writ in fire."

"I got to prayin' more hopeful. Ever' time the light'd flare up out o' the gloom my spirits'd rise, an' after awhile I felt as light as a feather. I sup' an' shouted an' prayed an' hugged my horse. It seemed like I was climbin' up to God. The light on the mountain was his presence. Once I fell down a steep bank in the dark, but I wasn't hurt, an' then ag'in I slipped on some rocks while I was crossin' a branch an' got wet to the waist, but when I scrambled out the light was a-shinin' brighter than ever. Finally I crossed a old field an' seed the open door of her house. A dog ran out barkin', but I wasn't no more afraid o' 'im than the apostles was o' snakes. I walked straight at 'im, called to 'im in a firm, friendly voice, an' patted 'im on the head, an' he licked my hand an' pranced about in front o' me like I was an old acquaintance he was glad to see. Mrs. Hambricht was at the fireplace cookin' 'somebody's' eat when I got there, an' she invited me in. I went in an' shook hands an' set down in the chair she gave me, an' she put more wood on the fire, fer she seed I was wet."

"You don't know me, Mrs. Hambricht," says I.

"No," says she. "I don't know you, sir; but that don't make no difference. I take in a lots o' folks that git benighted up here. Nobody would be mean enough to rob or harm a woman as old as I am."

"That's so," says I. Her head was as white as cotton, an' she was all bent over, but she had the sweetest, most patient face I ever seed. It made me feel easier about tellin' 'er who I was an' what I'd come for, but I acknowledged I was afraid. Then she proposed to set the table, fer she said she knewed I was famished, but I wouldn't let 'er.

"No, wait," says I. "wait till I've told you who I am, Mrs. Hambricht," says I, an' I couldn't look at 'er then. "I'm Hilger Hilger, the man who took yore pore boy's life."

"I seed 'er sorter jump a little, an' then she got as still as a grave rock. I was afeared to look at 'er. All my new found hope seemed to be leakin' out o' me. I bowed my head an' waited for 'er verdict. God knows I was miserable, but I was prayin'—prayin' fer pardon—prayin' both to her an' God. She was still a long time. I reckon she was studyin' up what to say to me. Then she spoke. "Did you come away out here just to see me, Mr. Hilger?" she axed in a trembly voice, an' I nodded, still afeared to meet her eye. "I come to make a confession an' implore you to pardon me," I said.

"Pardon you?" she said, slowlike an' soft.

"Squire Trabue's dead," I told 'er. "He died two days ago."

"I heard he was low," she said, an' I was sorry to hear it. "He was a good man, but is that all you wanted to tell me?"

"No," says I. "I wasn't. Mrs. Hambricht, the pension he's been payin' you all these years never come from the government. It was from me."

"Hilger Hilger," says she in her

The child held up two of the robbers with a revolver ordinarily kept out of her reach and after they got away she went into hysterics. The heroine is Agnes Berke of West Hoboken. Her father was called out on a pretext. Then two men entered, saying they were health inspectors. They walked back into the Berke apartments. Agnes, suspicious, went after them, and as the men looked carefully at a desk containing the Berke treasures she seized a revolver from a shelf and threatened to shoot. They promised to be good. When the girl lowered the revolver they bolted through a rear door.

NATURE'S OWN REMEDY.

When the mountaineer becomes afflicted with any of the numerous ailments, he does not waste much time but goes directly to the woods for Nature's own remedies.

Yarrow, which dried is a standby for Coughs when it has been made into a wicked looking brew. Birch-balsam, coaxed down by drop from the blisters which swell on the balsam at full noon is a sovereign remedy for Chest and Lung Complaints. Sallow-sweetened, strained and sweetened with molasses will cure the Whooping Cough. Horse-radish leaves, wilted, bruised, and bound on the face and back of the neck, will drive away Neuralgia. And a Nut-meg bored and tied around the neck, will keep it away—at least, so say many mountaineers. Onions, sliced, pounded and placed in a cloth and laid over the affected part, will draw out inflammation. A red Onion halved and one part slightly scooped out and the cup placed over a Carbuncle or Boil will speedily remove the pus.

There are many of these similar remedies in Nature's laboratory located in the woods and along the highways but they cannot be had at all times as few people know how to distinguish the different medicinal herbs from those that are poisonous and dangerous. To buy all of them from your druggist would require a great outlay of money. All the curative powers of the foregoing are combined in the new discovery.

PARACAMPH.

"First Aid to the Injured," a scientific, safe, sure remedy for Neuralgic and Rheumatic Troubles, Bronchial Troubles, Catarrh, Cold in the Head, Sore Throat, Pain in the Chest, Croup, Coughs, Eczema, Tetters, Ringworm, Chilblains, Sore Feet, Cuts, Burns, Bruises or any form of Swelling or Inflammation. Paracamp is conceded by medical authorities to be America's Most Reliable Household Remedy and will relieve pain quickly, if used as directed, and speedily cures.

Your dealer, the man you know and have confidence in, will cheerfully refund your money if Paracamp fails to do what we claim for it. Could anything be fairer? So don't hesitate—get a bottle of Paracamp to-day and keep it in your home. If you don't need it we will buy it back from you in three months. Sold by all good dealers in 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottles. Try a 25c bottle.—The Paracamp Company, Sole Manufacturers, Louisville, Ky., U. S. A.

WORTH A THOUGHT.

This Statement Will Interest Scores of Janesville Readers.

The facts given below are worth a personal by all who are anxious about their physical condition or are similarly situated to this resident of Beloit. It is a local occurrence and can be thoroughly investigated.

Mr. J. E. Flint, of 876 Bluff street, Beloit, Miller at the Bloodletting Mrs. Co., says: "I had pain in my back for about two years. Although I was not laid up and unable to work, still the dull tired aching while at work was disagreeable and inconvenient. Standing and walking about aggravated it, or if I sat in one position any length of time my back became very stiff. I read about Doan's Kidney Pills in one of our papers and as they were especially recommended for such complaints I got a box. They soon took the pain and soreness out of my back and kidneys. They reached the spot at once."

Plenty more proof like this from Janesville people. Call at the Peoples' Drug store and ask what their customers report.

For sale by all dealers, price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

LIVES DEARER THAN OUR VERY OWN

How many lives dearer to us than our very own have been placed in needless jeopardy by failure to provide against and forestall the great suffering which too frequently accompanies and follows the bearing of children? That we would do anything within our power to obviate the possibility of such an happening is too patent to admit of question; therefore—mark well this fact—a liniment.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

by name, has been devised, whose function it is to prepare in advance the muscles and tissues intimately associated with parturition.

This liniment is for external application. By its use the parts are relaxed and enabled to withstand not only the actual strain brought to bear on them during accouchement, but also to rally from this ordeal and speedily regain their normal proportions and tonicity. It is not irritating to the most sensitive surfaces, and is applicable to all cases. It's not enough to call it Mother's Friend—it's the friend of the whole family. $1.00, all druggists. ### POLICEMAN IS SHOT DURING STRIKE RIOTS

Former Employees of the Chicago Packing Houses Attack Train Bearing Nonunion Workmen.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—With all prospects of a settlement having vanished, strike rioters renewed their attacks on policemen and nonunion men Wednesday night. There were two serious disorders, in one of which shots were fired.

A train bearing strike breakers from the stock yards to the city was attacked at Fortt street and the Lake Shore tracks. Policeman Stephen Rohan being shot in the cheek. Windows in the train were broken and a number of the strike breakers suffered slight injuries. Officer Rohan was standing on the rear platform as the train passed through a crowd that lined the tracks. A number of shots were fired and railroad spikes were thrown through the windows. Several of the strike breakers drew revolvers, but before they could shoot the train had passed on.

After the shooting Chief O'Neill went to the stock yards police station and ordered Inspector Hunt to employ every means to clear the tracks and adjacent streets of rioters.

Mr. Donnelly has denied that he intended to ask President Roosevelt to intervene in the strike. He also said that he would not ask aid from the American Federation of Labor.

"I do not see any reason for asking the American Federation to aid us," he said. "We have sufficient money at present, and there is plenty in sight."

"Jobbery" in British Army. According to a British officer the Boer war "was productive of more jobs than any of Marlborough's campaigns." Another British soldier is quoted as saying: "If you want to get on in the service leave your regiment first; then get your aunt to call on Lady — and give her a thumping subscription for one of her charities, and the thing is done."

Port of Havre. The port of Havre consists of an outer harbor fifty acres in extent; there are also ten docks with a half-tide basin and ten locks, having a surface of 210 acres. There are 19,500 yards of quays and 112 acres of land for the stowing of merchandise, largely covered with excellent sheds. There are six drydocks, three of which are capable of taking in all but the largest mail steamers.

WHY NOT PAINT YOUR ROOFS

WITH THE

A. F. HAWTHORN ROOF PAINT

WHILE WE ARE IN JANESVILLE?

No matter what kind of a roof it is nor how bad it leaks, we can stop all leaks effectually with the A. F. Hawthorn Roof Paint and Metallic Surface Protector. Read what the Beloit Free Press says of This Great Local Enterprise.

M. H. Bradley's Force of Men at Work On the Fairbanks-Morse Co.'s Mammoth Plant.

This great enterprise of which M. H. Bradley, of Beloit, has been made the manager and given the entire control of the company's business in Wisconsin, is the A. F. Hawthorn Roof Paint and Metallic surface protector.

This enterprise, which has but recently been started in Beloit, has met with a success unprecedented in the history of the city, and associated as it will be with the name of the great A. F. Hawthorn Roof Paint and Metallic Surface protector, it will carry the name of Beloit to the remotest sections of the country. Already the paint has been applied to many of the best blocks and leading manufacturing plants in the state. The above cut shows Mr. Bradley, the state manager of this enterprise, and his score of men at work on the buildings of the Fairbanks-Morse company's mammoth works, which is but one of the many contracts he has on the way to completion.

Thousands of dollars are annually lost by the deterioration of tin and wooden roofs, through inattention in keeping them carefully painted, or by the cracking and blistering of paints not adapted to the purpose. Now he has in the A. F. Hawthorn roof paint, a composition that contains no oil or other evaporated properties to allow moisture to reach the surface and corrode the metal beneath, and, as it retains its enamel surface, and is not affected by the heat or cold, will not crack, blister, or peel off; is elastic to allow for the expansion or contraction of the metal caused by the heat or cold; is impervious to water, and will last for years.

This paint has stood the test of more than a quarter of a century, and thousands of testimonials have been given from prominent individuals and corporations all over this country, testifying to its great value, as a roof preserver.

In some instances these testimonials have been given after the paint has stood a test of more than twenty years and all testify to the wonderful durability of this paint.

Upon request, Mr. Bradley will send you a little book, "How to save your roofs," which will tell you why and how this wonderful invention has attained to the acknowledged superiority of an unapproached roof paint.
